What is a Canine Good Citizen?

Every dog should respond to at least four basic commands: “heel,” “sit,” “down,” and “stay.” A trained dog has good manners, which reflect favorably on its owner and assure that it will always be welcomed and respected member of your home and community. Canine good Citizen training is fun and useful. A dog does not have to perform with precision to become a Canine Good Citizen.

The Canine Good Citizen Program is sponsored by the American Kennel Club, which urges all dog owners to participate. When your dog passes the test you will be awarded a medallion and a certificate suitable for framing.
